In Memoriam

WALKER - In loving memory of our aunt, Mrs. Lucille P. Walker, who departed this life, February 21, 1974.

Sweet angels, take a loving message.
To our wonderful loved one today.
Give it to her in this very special way.
Brush the silver of her hair.
Hold her close as we would love to do.
Tenderly give her a kiss or two.
And whisper to her, sweet and low this message we want her to know.
Oh, Aunt, we love and miss you so.
We miss so dearly those happy days we shared with you.
Though you are not with us no more,
Still in memory you are as you always were before.
You give so much to others.
That emptiness can never be filled.
Your wisdom and love will guide us till we meet again.
We love you as always,
The Loving Family

Outdoor Advertising Donated To "Spruce Up" Virginia

A $250,000 public service outdoor advertising campaign has been launched by three Virginia associations in support of Governor Mills E. Godwin's program to "spruce up" Virginia for the Independence Bicentennial and the millions of visitors expected in 1976.

Wett Smith, secretary-treasurer of the Outdoor Advertising Association of Virginia, announced the contribution of free advertising space on billboards at 1,000 locations across the state. The donated space, valued at approximately $250,000 is being sponsored as a cooperative effort of the Virginia Beer Wholesalers, Virginia Soft Drink Association and the Outdoor Advertising Association.

"Our objective is to call attention to the governor's wide-ranging program for resource recovery, beautification and litter prevention," Smith said. Posters bearing the message "Spruce Up Virginia, Company's Coming" have already been installed on more than half of the reserved billboards, he added, with the remainder scheduled to appear over the next six months for an exposure period of 45 to 60 days at each location.

The outdoor advertising "will serve to reinforce an emphasis on action at the local or "grass roots' level," according to Henry W. Tulloch, director of the state's bicentennial campaign, "by stimulating individual responsibility and pride in the beauty of Virginia surroundings."

Nine months ago, Godwin announced the campaign to promote cleanup and beautification, by every appropriate means, of "Virginia's public places, private homes, businesses and neighborhoods for the period of the nation's bicentennial and beyond."

At the time, Godwin said he hoped the initial "spruce up" program would generate continued interest for a long-range effort to recycle waste materials, as well as supplement and support the activities of organization conducting cleanup and beautification programs.

Implementation of the statewide program is now being carried out by several hundred local organizations, Tulloch said. The state office is responsible for coordinating these voluntary efforts and suggesting other programs of action.

Additional information on the program is available from the Virginia Bicentennial Spruce Up Campaign headquarters, 910 Capitol Street, Richmond, Virginia. 23219.
